

Safety Planning

Suggestions for leaving an abusive relationship ...

before you separate

...create a code word or signaling system with your family and friends to alert them to call the police.

...practice getting out of your house.

...decide what you will do and where you will go if you leave.

...leave money, extra keys, copies of important documents, extra medicine, and clothes with someone you trust.

after you separate

...change your locks and secure your windows.

...vary your routine.

...discuss a safety plan with your children for when you are not home.

at work

...inform your supervisor of your situation

...have someone walk you to your car.

Did you know...a woman is beaten every 15 seconds?

Domestic violence is most often defined as a pattern of behavior where one person uses force to control another person in an intimate relationship, either physically, emotionally or sexually.

Did you know...a woman is raped every 2 minutes?

There are varying degrees of sexual assault/criminal sexual conduct, however, the underlying definition is any form of sexual contact without voluntary consent.

The Legal Process

As a victim of crime you are protected by constitutional rights in the State of Michigan. The Crime Victims Rights Act ensures victims' are treated with dignity and respect throughout the criminal proceeding and beyond. These rights include a consistent flow of information as well as special accommodations and services. For additional information about your rights, contact the Legal Advocacy Program.

Personal Protection Orders

A P.P.O. is a court order to stop a person from harassing you, physically or otherwise. You must show to the court that this person is interfering with your personal liberty or has threatened or committed violence against you. A P.P.O. does not apply to children you may have in common with this individual and minor children are not able to obtain a P.P.O. against a parent. Paperwork to file a P.P.O. can be obtained at the Circuit Court Clerk's office or through the Legal Advocacy Program.
